If the young man's family invites you to visit them during the boy's stay, it would be entirely proper for you to go. But as you're not engaged to the boy and propose staying at a hotel or boarding house, it would be better if your mother went with you. These days, when most of the conventional bars are down, people have become pretty much a law unto themselves. But for a girl of 18 to go to a town in which her boy friend lives and put up at a hotel or board-visit them, as a return courtesy for the visit he will make to you. Another Home Wrecked

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I've been married for several years, six of which were ideally happy, but now my husband has started to drink, and he stays out late at night. This has gone on for a year, and I'm on the verge of a nervous breakdown. He says he loves me, yet hurts me constantly. Needless to relate my pleading and alking to him are of no avail. If he can pass by a saloon he's the same sweet husband, but one drink leads to many. My doctor says if I do not take this matter in hand and reorganize my life, I'll have to be put in a hospital for a complete rest. But would that cure my husband, or would I only be faced with the same problem on my return? I'm an accomplished musician, well read and a good mother to our daughter of five years. I love my home, husband and child, and

Your neighbor's Riversides didn't come on his car; he chose them himself, to replace the tires he found on his car as "original equipment"! He chose them deliberately, in preference to the tires on new cars and all other famous tires. (Ever ask him why?).

MILES-OF-SAFETY ON RIVERSIDES

Riversides are now actually stronger than Wards pre-war tires! Here's why: - Each individual cord is stronger to begin with; then chemically-strengthened to stay strong, next liquid-dipped to "weld" the cords together, then cushioned in rubber! Finally, the plies are cemented together before vulcanizing to provide greater protection against separation, bruises and blow-outs!

As the case now stands, near-ing the middle of July, either the Cubs or Cardinals will meet the Tigers in the next World Series, provided the next World Series is allowed. As between the Cardinals and Cubs I still favor the Cardinals, but not to any crushing extent. This Cub collection is getting hotter day by day and at the moment shows no sign of taking any mid-summer dip in the surf of a slump. Only desperate measures and better pitching can keep Dodgers, Giants, Yankees and the others bunched up with the three teams referred to before. It is for this reason that the next two weeks will be important spots on the pennant calendar.

The Senators or Nationals from Washington have been the leading surprise of the A. L. scramble, but outside of the Tigers no other A. L. club so far has shown enough consistency to be rated in Detroit's class.
